Japan backs digital education in Cambodia with ICT support for teacher training

Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) has donated 46 desktop computers to primary schools attached to Teacher Education Colleges (TECs) in Phnom Penh and Battambang, with funding from the KINOLD Yasuaki Sugimoto Memorial Foundation. The handovers, held on February 25–26, support Cambodia's efforts to strengthen digital learning and improve teacher training. These attached schools serve as practice sites for trainee teachers, so the new ICT equipment will help future educators integrate technology into their teaching. The initiative builds on JICA's longstanding support for Cambodia's education reforms, including strengthening TECs, improving facilities, and upgrading teacher qualifications in cooperation with the Ministry of Education, Youth and Sport. (PhnomPenh Post)

European business leaders eye Kingdom as strategic supply hub amid global trade shifts

A delegation of about 30 senior executives from over 15 major European companies, organised by the EU-ASEAN Business Council, will visit Phnom Penh on March 4–5 to explore investment opportunities in Cambodia. The group will meet key Cambodian leaders, including Deputy Prime Minister Sun Chanthol and Commerce Minister Cham Nimul, as well as several ministries. Led by EU-ABC vice-chair Noel Clehane, the mission aims to strengthen public-private cooperation and deepen EU–ASEAN economic ties amid global trade uncertainty. Sectors of interest include logistics, digital finance, healthcare, sustainable infrastructure and environmental services. The visit highlights Cambodia's rising role as a strategic hub linking Southeast Asia and Europe, reflecting its improving business environment and growing integration into regional and global supply chains. (PhnomPenh Post)
